

"It was nothing personal...
The board just wants to take the company in a different direction."